Travel Center Eyed for L.A. Downtown Area

A dramatic proposal for a huge transportation center to serve as a "travel interchange" for all modes of transportation and designed to meet travel conditions of the year 2,000 as well as current needs, was outlined this week by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn in a meeting with top public officials, civic and business leaders.

Supervisor Hahn pointed out that now the 12,000,000 persons traveling to and from the Los Angeles Metropolitan area each year arrive by bus, rail, automobile, air and boat, with each mode of travel operating separately and independently of the others.

The proposed transportation center would serve as a connecting link between all the various transportation centers, as well as any rapid transit system to be developed in the future, he said.

Bonus Offered By Play Group

Harbor area theatergoers are getting an extra bonus in their attendance at the current production of the San Pedro Theatre Arts players.

They are seeing a comedy one-act "Poor Old Jim" featuring Charles Hackbusch of Rolling Hills, Hal Lepper of Torrance, and Laura Madigan of San Pedro.

The comedy is a prelude to the group's major production "Seven Nuns at Las Vegas" which this weekend is concluding its run at the group's playhouse, 501 S. Cabrillo Ave., San Pedro.

Tickets for "Seven Nuns" and the bonus play "Poor Old Jim" may be obtained at the door, if not sold out, or by calling TE 3-1468 for reservations.
